Excursion and Freight Trains In Collision

CAME TOGETHER HEAD-ON

Running Fifty Miles an Hour Down a Steep Grade, Excursion Train Loaded with Passengers Dashes Into a Freight Train.

Salem, Mich., July 23.—Thirty people were killed and [illegible] injured, several of them seriously, as the result of a head-on collision Saturday, when a Pere Marquette excursion train, bound from Toledo to Detroit, crashed into a westbound freight in a cut located at a point known as the Pere Marquette junction, about a mile east of Salem.

The passenger train of 11 cars, carrying the Pere Marquette shop employees of Ionia and their families to the Michigan metropolis for their annual excursion, was thundering at a high speed, probably 50 miles an hour, down a steep grade.

The excursion train struck the lighter locomotive of the freight train with such terrific force as to turn the freight engine completely around.

Three of the coaches were telescoped by the terrific impact, and the fourth and fifth coaches were smashed to match wood.

Although there were probably 50 children among the excursionists it is a strange fact that few of them were injured.

Nearly all of the dead and injured were men.

Responsibility is put upon the crew of the freight train by officials of the road, who arrived at the scene of the wreck soon after the accident, and who secured from the crew of the freight train the orders under which it was running, and which clearly showed the position of the passenger excursion train and that the freight train had encroached upon the other train's running time.

BURN OUR CANDLES TOO FAST.

Dr. Aked on the Strenuous Life of the American People.

Chautauqua, N. Y., July 23.—The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the Fifth avenue Baptist church of New York, preached in the Chautauqua assembly Sunday on "The Ethics of a Holiday," taking as his text "Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place and rest awhile."

"There has been no people on the face of the earth who needed this more than we ourselves," said Dr. Aked. "We burn our candles at both ends, and lest our neighbors should get ahead of us, we light it in the middle.

"The great majority of us are just as incapable of flying as we are of thinking, because of our lack of leisure. If we were to pause in our mad rush to meditate on time and its mysterious life and its meaning, we might miss the next car, we could live, if we only were not always dying to get somewhere else."

Empress Afraid of Autos.

Berlin, July 23.—The empress of Germany, who is noted for her pluck on horseback, apparently is not so courageous while in an automobile. She intended to visit Konigsberg on Saturday in her touring car, and was within three miles of her destination when loud and repeated explosions in the motor led her to believe that her life was in danger. Assurance by her chauffeur that there was not the least danger, were of no avail and no other vehicle being available, the empress proceeded in a wagon to the railway station nearby.

Swims English Channel.

Dover, England, July 23.—Jabez Wolffe, the amateur swimmer of London, inaugurated the channel swimming season Monday. He entered the sea at South Foreland and struck out for France. Last year Wolffe swam to within five miles of Cape Grisnez, France, but was forced to give up the effort because he had strained a tendon while in the water.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

Prohibition Bill Takes Precedence Over Everything Else.

Atlanta, July 23.—It was [illegible] after [illegible] session of the house on Saturday [illegible] there was barely a handful to [illegible] and [illegible] by a vote of 99 to [illegible].

The house took it upon itself to get busy and rushed by suspending the work on other measures and [illegible] of the strictest kind, resulting in adoption of the [illegible] which was expected will [illegible].

Saturday the house contented itself with the introduction of new bills, the passage of [illegible] and the reading of a number of bills for a second time. Tuesday is a field day for this week, as [illegible] be had.

For New Senatorial Districts.

One of the general measures introduced was that by Mr. Hines, of Clayton, which seeks to redistrict the state senatorially, increasing the number of senators and districts from 44, at present, to 59.

Another bill of a general character is that of Mr. White, of Screven, which seeks to make it a misdemeanor to give, furnish or sell to any minor in the state tobacco in any shape or form. This bill is sure to create widespread interest and will develop a great fight when it comes up for action—if it ever does.

Ultimatum of Prohis.

"Until a state prohibition bill has been passed by both houses of the general assembly, signed by the governor, and entered on the statute book there will not be any order for [illegible] whether [illegible] by the Macon platform or not." That is the ultimatum which has been laid down by the prohibition forces in the legislature.

Though the measure has been passed by the senate and was sworn to by Sunday's test votes to be favored by a great majority of the members of the house, still the opponents of prohibition claim sufficient strength to make an effective filibuster, and it is to meet such tactics that this ultimatum has been issued.

With over three weeks of the session gone, none of the measures which it was understood were to be immediately put through have been enacted. Practically the whole of the session so far has been devoted to a discussion of prohibition, and a long-drawn-out fight in the house would undoubtedly block everything for weeks and possibly make it necessary for the governor to call an extra session.

All Over But Shouting.

It is now believed that the end of the week will see the prohibition measure passed by the house. Though the antis claim to have sixty men with them, still it is not believed that they will be able to hold out against the great majority which Friday's test vote showed in favor of the Hardman bill.

Big Steamer Careened.

Bremen, July 23.—The work of pumping out the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II, and of shifting the coal on board so that she can be righted, is being continued with energy. The company does not yet fix the date when the vessel is likely to resume her sailings. The Kaiser Wilhelm II, while coaling at Bremer-Haven Saturday evening suddenly listed because of faulty trimming, with the result that the water poured into her bunkers through the open coal ports and the vessel careened and lay on her side on the bottom.

Wreck on L. & N. Road.

Montgomery, Ala., July 23.—Two freight trains on the L. & N. ran together at Oneonta, Ala., Sunday night, resulting in [illegible] up both engines [illegible] Elmore, George Green, of [illegible], was slightly [illegible]. Otherwise there was no one injured. As the crash came between the switches there was no [illegible] track [illegible].

To Rehabilitate Plant.

Pittsburg, July 23.—An announcement is made [illegible] plant will be completely rehabilitated. Edgar Thomson Steel plant in Braddock, at a cost of about [illegible].

100 PERSONS DROWN

Steamers Collide In Dense Fog Off Pacific Coast.

SHIP SANK IN FIVE MINUTES

Passenger Vessel and Lumber Laden Steamer Came Together With Most Disastrous Results—Captain Went Down with His Ship.

San Francisco, July 23.—The steamer Columbia, bound north from this port for Portland, collided with the lumber steamer San Pedro on Saturday about midnight, off Shelter Cove, Mendocino county. There was a heavy fog at the time and the San Pedro, heavily laden with lumber, struck the Columbia on the port bow with such terrific force that she was cut down to the water and sank in about five minutes.

About one hundred people sank with her to a watery grave, and the rest, numbering about eighty, were rescued by clinging to the San Pedro, from which vessel they were taken some hours later by the steamer Roanoke.

Captain P. A. Doran, of the Columbia, went down with his vessel.

The San Pedro was picked up by the steamer George W. Elder and was towed into Eureka.

NEGRO DIES OF FRIGHT.

Shot White Man and Feared Mob Violence.

Cincinnati, July 23.—James Wilson, a negro, died of fright Sunday night following an exciting chase and his arrest for shooting Charles Ballard.

After the shooting Wilson was chased over [illegible] by police and a crowd of men who had witnessed the shooting. He was exhausted from his exertions and by the heat, but seemed afraid of mob violence, continually appealing for help from the police, who had to use force to save him.

Physicians reported that when the negro was brought to the station he died of fright.

DISASTROUS STORM.

Rain, Wind and Lightning Play Havoc In Ohio.

Racine, Wis., July 23.—One man killed, several injured, barns destroyed and other buildings damaged, horses and cattle killed, was the result of a serious rain, wind and electrical storm which visited Racine county Sunday night.

At the village of Waterford, the people were gathering for mass in St. Mary's church, when a bolt of lightning struck the steeple and Wensel Niksch, of Milwaukee, who was leaning against the door, was killed.

Several other people were knocked down and severely stunned.

Great excitement prevailed and persons ran from the building, but it did not catch fire.

Assurances Given Ambassador.

Constantinople, July 23.—The note sent to the porte by Mr. Leishman, the American ambassador, regarding the explosion of a bomb in front of the American embassy at Therapia on the night of July 14 has brought an immediate reply from Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister.

The minister assures Mr. Leishman that measures to discover and punish the guilty persons have been inaugurated and that steps to prevent the recurrence of such an outrage have been taken.

Veterans Met at Logansville.

Logansville, Ga., July 23.—The reunion of the Forty-second and Thirty-fifth regiments, United Confederate Veterans, was held here Saturday among a concourse of about 4,000 people.

Fatal Explosion in Colliery.

Tokio, July 23.—There was a fatal explosion in a colliery at Toyooka in Izungoya province. It is reported that nearly all of the 47[illegible] miners in the pit at the time were killed.

CONTROL OF KOREA.

Hermit Kingdom Will Be the Gainer Under Japanese Rule.

Chicago, July 23.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, D. C., says:

It is the opinion of diplomats here that after the last natural distinctions are removed, Korea will be much the gainer for the actual transfer of its control to the Japanese.

For a generation the hermit kingdom has been distinguished for all sorts of frauds. The emperor, who has just been deposed, and his two sons, have manifested a complete incapacity for the science of government. Long before the war between Japan and Russia, it was evident to any student of Oriental affairs that Korea was destined to be wiped off the map and that, too, at no distant period. Oriental students say it was much better for Korea that sovereignty should be given to the Japanese and not to some European nation. The Japanese are affiliated with Korea in a thousand different ways, and the two nations amalgamated a great deal more certainly than if the emperor of Korea had been forced to abdicate in favor of a Caucasian government.

All the reports indicte that the Japanese acted with great moderation. They planned to take over Korea at the outset of the war with Russia. The forced abdication of the emperor was discussed a long while ago. There is a practical understanding for nearly a year between all the great powers that the Japanese were entitled to the fruits of victory in Korea, as it was evident that the antiquated empire could not possibly maintain itself.

ELEPHANT CHEWED HIS CASH.

Unfortunate Honeymoon Trip of Bride and Bridegroom.

New York, July 23.—Gunda, an elephant at the Bronx Zoological park, [illegible] ruined a country couple's honeymoon by chewing all their ready cash. The big animal collects cents daily from spectators and hoards them in a bank above his head. James Henchcliffe and his bride, who were just married at Pawling, N. Y., were standing before Gunda's cage watching him collect pennies from the crowd when it suddenly occurred to the bridegroom to see if pickpockets had tried to get his roll of bills. This roll was specially for the bridal trip, and amounted to about $260. He pulled the roll out of his pocket which Gunda deftly grabbed with his trunk and stuck into his mouth. The bride screamed and the bridegroom shouted at seeing the pachyderm complacently munching the money.

Two keepers rushed up and prodded the beast until he yielded the cash. The money looked as if it had been through a cornsheller. Only a single dollar bill was passable. The bride wept bitterly, but the bridegroom cheered her with the observation that the elephant had left them enough with which to return to Pawling. But before that he will try to get the subtreasury to redeem some of the pulpy tens and twenties.

REBELLION IMMINENT.

Widespread Revolt Is Threatened In China, Says Missionary.

New York, July 23.—A letter has been received at the headquarters of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church from one of the medical missionaries of the board now in China, describing the conditions around Canton.

According to Dr. J. M. Swan, the writer of the letter, only a leader is necessary for a widespread rebellion in that part of China. He says that certainly before twelve months have passed a decided change in the government [illegible] and that whether it will be accomplished by force of arms or not, is yet to be determined.

Dynamite Blows Up Dam.

Crowley, La., July 23.—About 170 feet of Grand Chenier dam, valued at over $100,000, was blown up [illegible] dynamite [illegible] erected to shut out salt water from overflowing rice lands. Many persons believed it responsible for the floods and recently threats of destruction have been made.

BRIDGE GOES DOWN

Score of Men Were Precipitated Into River.

MANY FIND WATERY GRAVES

Several Bodies Have Been Recovered, but It Is Known that Many Other Persons Are Missing—Search Being Made for Bodies.

Lorain, O., July 23.—A score of men were precipitated into the river here Monday morning and several were drowned, a bridge crashing beneath them. Two bodies have been taken from the water.

Another is known positively to be in the river and several more are missing. The men were employed in the ship yards. They used a foot bridge near the Nickel Plate bridge to cross the river to their work.

Monday morning a portion of the bridge was open to permit a vessel to pass. The men were leaning against a railing waiting for the bridge to close when the railing broke.

The bodies of Paul Masuleraki and Walter Ressekevitz have been taken from the water.

All of the dead and missing are foreigners.

FARMER RAN AMUCK.

Michigan Man Loses Mind and Does Deadly Work with Ax.

Nunica, Mich., July 23.—Henry Scutcheon, a farmer, about 50 years of age, living near this village, Saturday ran amuck with an ax, killing his invalid son, his wife and her father.

Scutcheon was later shot by Henry McClellan, a neighbor, whom the crazed murderer had also attacked.

With no warning, so far as is known, Scutcheon suddenly murderously attacked his son with an ax. He crushed the boy's head frightfully. When his wife interfered he turned on her and pursued the frightened, screaming woman from their house to the road, where he knocked her down with his weapon. He then rushed back to the house and murdered his father-in-law.

Next he tried to destroy himself. The maddened man gashed his throat and wrists with a razor and took some paris green. His wounds did not weaken him and the poison did not take immediate effect. Ax in hand, he returned to the road where he had felled his wife a few moments before. The first blow did not kill her, and she had been carried into the house of Henry McClellan, nearby. McClelland rushed to another neighbor's for help.

When Scutcheon found that his wife was in the McClellan house, he broke open a window with his ax and jumped through it and again attacked her. This time he crushed her skull. He then left the McClellan home and returned to his own house, but when Mr. McClellan returned from his search for help the crazed man came out and started over toward him, saying, "I want you."

"I will shoot if you come across the road," replied McClellan, who had armed himself with a shotgun.

Despite the warning, Scutcheon came across with murder in his eye.

McClellan thereupon shot him, killing him instantly.

Director Blair Resigns.

New York, July 23.—James A. Blair has resigned from the board of directors of the Central of Georgia Railway company. Mr. Blair's resignation is understood to have resulted from the recent change in the Central of the property which has passed into the hands of a syndicate, headed by Oakleigh Thorne and Marsden J. Perry.

Killed by a Freight Train.

Marietta, Ga., July 23.—Saturday afternoon Albert Sprouse, a young man 21 years of age living at Blackwells, Ga., was run over and killed at Smyrna Station, Ga., Mr. Sprouse got off an electric car and was run down by a freight train.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

The Harriman Report a Matter of Practical Politics.

NOT LIKELY TO BE PROSECUTED

Matters May Be Allowed to Drag Until Statute of Limitation Applies. Southern People Manifest Little Interest in Government Jobs.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., July 22.—In spite of all that his been said to the contrary, the question of whether or not E. H. Harriman shall be subjected to Federal prosecution for his railroad manipulations is largely a matter of practical politics. The long expected report of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Harriman investigation has been rendered and is now in the hands of the President at Oyster Bay. This report is most of it old matter, with which the public is familiar through much newspaper discussion. It goes into the intricacies of the Alton securities, the lease of the San Pedro Road, the control of the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific by the same management, although they have been declared to be competing lines, and various other excursions of the Harriman financiers into the joint realms of railroads and politics. The report makes but one practical recommendation, and that is that a railroad should be prohibited by law from purchasing the securities of another railroad. This was Mr. Harriman's method whereby he was gradually absorbing all the railroad systems of the West and by which he hoped eventually to bring all the railroads of the United States under a single management. The report of the commission goes into detail over all those transactions and speaks in scathing terms of many of the practices. But the word "prosecution" is not once mentioned in the report, and the whole thing is left to the Attorney-General for treatment or not, as he thinks advisable. There has been considerable criticism of this report and it has been commented upon as weak-kneed and ineffective. There was quite as much discussion in the commission as outside as to whether any definite recommendation should be made looking to either criminal or civil prosecution. Frank B. Kellogg, the special attorney of the commission, who practically wrote the report, was much in favor of prosecution; so was Commissioner Judson Clements. It was understood that Commissioner Knapp was also in favor of prosecution and Commissioner Lane was wavering; but after almost innumerable conferences and weeks of delay, the report was written simply as an expose, without recommendation except in regard to the purchase of properties mentioned. Now it is known that Attorney-General Bonaparte is rather in favor of prosecuting Mr. Harriman. He made this plain at the Cabinet trust prosecution conference, held at the White House just before the President went away for the summer. But there is too much at stake in the political line to make prosecution advisable just now. It is highly probable that the matter will be allowed to rest without action until close to the time that some of the acts will be cut-lawed by the statute of limitations. Then there may be action, but it will depend largely on the political situation.

Civil Service Commissioner McGrath has just returned from a trip through the South, where he has been endeavoring to interest the public in the civil service as a life career for young men. He has delivered a number of lectures before the Young Men's Christian associations and Southern colleges and other educational institutions. The civil service is decidedly short of men competent to take the lower clerical positions. People in the South have shown little inclination to select Government work as even a temporary calling; much less has there been any inclination either North or South to make the civil service a life career. It has been looked on more as a stepping-stone to some better employment, and this is quite natural in view of the fact that Government salaries are not large, considering the expense of living in Washington. The lower places in the service are badly enough paid, but when it comes to higher positions requiring technical training, it is hard for the Government to get good men and absolutely impossible to keep them, if they show exceptional ability and any private firm happens to want their services. The commission believes that by arousing interest in the South it will be able to swell its eligible list, but it is generally conceded that there will have to be further inducements offered, both in the line of salary and pension retirement, before the civil service in this country can be ranked as a life career as it is abroad.

Advices to the State Department from the Hague indicate that there is little probability of action on the so-called Drago Doctrine at the present session of the Peace Conference. Strangely enough, some of the strongest opponents of action in this line are the South American Republics themselves. The Drago Doctrine, it will be remembered, is a sort of supplement to the Monroe Doctrine. Its gist is a prohibition against the collection of debts from any of the South American Republics by armed European force. Of course, such a doctrine is distinctly distasteful to European powers; but objection is made also by some of the South American Republics that it would hurt their national credit and handicap them in borrowing money abroad. On the other hand, this Government takes the view that foreigners who lend money at exorbitant rates of interest on questionable security to South American governments should be prepared to take their own risk and not rely on making the warships of their home country debt collecting agencies abroad.

Mistrial Declared.

Rome, Ga., July 23.—The jury in the case of Frank Phillips, charged with murder in the killing of Morris at Lindale last December, were discharged Saturday afternoon by Judge Moses Wright, a mistrial being declared. The jury was out four days and finally announced to the judge that there was no possibility of an agreement on a verdict. The killing of Morris by Philips was quite a sensational affair. Morris was his brother-in-law. They lived in the same house and had a falling out about some trivial affair and the tragedy resulted. Phillips had been tried once before. He was convicted of manslaughter, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. However, he was afterwards given a new trial which resulted as stated above.

OUTLOOK MORE HOPEFUL.

Cotton Is Generally In Healthy and Growing Condition.

Memphis, Tenn., July 23.—The Commercial Appeal prints the following summary of crop conditions prevailing throughout the cotton belt during the past week, made up from the reports of their special correspondents:

"Hot, dry weather prevailed in the central cotton belt; rain fell in the eastern sections and showers visited the west. Everywhere cotton made rapid growth and is now generally in a healthy and growing condition. Cultivation is excellent and in those sections where laying by has begun the crop is being finished in an unusually clean state. The plant is forming squares and in some parts of the belt bolls are well developed and all the fruit made is being well held. It is noteworthy, however, that over the entire central and eastern belt fruiting is later than usual, since the larger part of this section has just now begun to bloom freely.

"The plant is often small, but is everywhere healthy, and the actual growth during the week under review has not been equaled during any other week of the season. The sentiment is everywhere more hopeful and with favorable conditions in the future the prospects are considered some better than at one time seemed possible.

"Boll weevils have appeared in southern Arkansas and some new sections. Its numbers increased during the hot weather and plenty of complaints of damage are heard from Louisiana."

ATTORNEYS CLASH.

Sensational Feature in the Trial of Haywood.

Boise, Idaho, July 23.—The passing of the lie between Clarence Darrow, of counsel for the defense, and J. W. Hawley, leading counsel for the state, was a feature of the Haywood trial Saturday.

Both men were thoroughly angry, and a personal encounter seemed imminent, but Judge Wood patched up temporary peace.

The clash came when Hawley, with the utmost deliberation, charged wilful perjury against several witnesses. He argued the truth of Orchard's story, and said that two men might have been brought to contradict him, but that the defense was afraid to produce either Pettibone or Adams, and he said Adams had been brought to Boise from the jail in Shoshone county in order that the defense might use him as a witness.

White to the lips, Clarence Darrow sprang into action.

"The statement is false and counsel knows it," he shouted.

Hawley took a step closer to the defense table, and, shaking his finger close to Darrow's face, said:

"When counsel says that, he utters deliberate falsehood!"

MISCONCEPTION OF THE SOUTH

Won't See Us As We Are, But Stick to Black Mammy Period.

DO NOT SEE TRUE PICTURES

Southern Cities Have Their Waterways Where Pure Water Comes From Artesian Wells—Death Rate of Florida Cities Low.

Walter Page, in a recent article in The World's Work, among other things says:

"It would be an incalculable gain if men's conception of the South—especially of the lowland South—would now be made anew and made directly from facts, not from traditions or old memories. The tourists see post-card pictures of old 'mammies' (the 'mammy' is practically a defunct institution), of an old negro man in rags driving an ox, of a little grinning Sambo eating a watermelon, of a former slave cabin, and the like. The railroads run, of course, along the barrenest ridges of land, for good engineering reasons, and the tourist hotels keep the grotesque things in sight. The literature of the era of slavery, or of the era of war, or the romances which have to do with these periods; and the people of the best-known books about the South are either the heroes of aristocratic origin, or the poor devils whose origin was unknown. Some of the Southern folks themselves, too, think of the land and of themselves, and of other folk, less by fact than by traditions, most of which are exaggerated and some of which are altogether untrue.

"The effect of these ludicrous misconceptions is a real hindrance to knowledge and a check to growth. Most persons, for example, think of the South Atlantic coast cities as unhealthful. They will recall yellow fever epidemics, forgetting that yellow fever has now no more terrors for the South than smallpox has for the North. They think of bad water. Yet Jacksonville, Fla., for instance, has its waterworks in the very heart of the city, where the supply comes from artesian wells, and its death rate (of the whites) is among the lowest of cities of the United States. The same freedom from disease is found in Savannah, and, indeed in most of the coast cities.

In Swell Streets.

"So, too, of the people as well as of the places. While men elsewhere have been talking and writing of 'crackers' and 'poor white trash,' the sons of the people that they have been writing about have built fine residences on the 'swell' streets of every Southern city. They are manufacturers and bankers and the leaders of great enterprises; or they are the owners of cotton farms, or of cabbage [illegible] of better farms or of [illegible] mills and of everything else that [illegible] prosperity. The sons of [illegible] to the town who were rich [illegible] are also, of course, [illegible] leaders. The point is that the Southern [illegible] the Southern [illegible] and of the [illegible] to find.

I am tired of the [illegible] and a good time to [illegible] Florida a man who went [illegible] Iowa forty years ago. When I go to see my old kinspeople they ex[illegible] me to talk about alligators and chills and fever. I never see an alligator except the little ones that are caught for the tourists, and I have never had chills and fever, nor any other illness, since I left Iowa. I have an artesian well and my home is drained—as many homes in Iowa are not. Chicago has more sunstrokes in one summer, I venture to say, than Florida has had since the white man first came here. And there are better roads about this town and more automobiles than in any town of the same size in Iowa.

"Sanitation and intensive culture of the soil and the general organization of the industry by modern methods have, of course, brought changes so rapidly in the seaboard South—in those communities where there has been a modern organization—that the changes are well nigh incredible. And they run through the whole range of life—from every-day work to the warp and woof of men's thought and character."

Little Miss Gertie Stockton of Judson is here, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Tom Swindal

Ira J. Carter, wife and interesting little son, Ira J. Jr., of Bennington, are the guests of Mrs. D. G. Roland.

Mrs. Susie Ellis of Fort White was here Wednesday, returning Thursday.

Captain C. A. Neal happened to receive quite a painful accident Wednesday afternoon. While passing one of the new buildings, where the carpenters were at work, a large piece of timber fell, striking him on the head and cutting quite a gash. Drs. McLeod and Getzen dressed the wound and the Captain was able to be out again Thursday.

John G. White has returned from Daytona Beach, where he spent several days with his family, who are there for the summer.

Mrs. Lillie Kitchens and daughter, Minnie, returned Thursday from Lake City, where they spent the past three weeks visiting relatives.

Miss Florida Livingston, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Livingston, from Georgia, are here on a visit to the former's brother, Geo. Livingston.

Mrs. C. D. May and two children, Rouse and Carl, are spending the week in Georgia, visiting relatives.

A. A. Burke, who spent the past month at Hernando, is home again.

W. G. Chapman visited Worthington last Sunday, returning Monday.

Miss Lizzie Smith, one of the Gainesville Normal students, spent Saturday here, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Smith.

A Beautiful Incident.

At the burial of Mr. Jones last Monday afternoon, when the white pigeon which was let down in the grave with the coffin was freed, instead of circling around and flying off as they usually do, it lit on the top of the carriage in which Mrs. Jones sat, remaining directly over Mrs. Jones until the ceremony was over. It then flew to a little dead limb over the grave, where it remained until the grave was covered and the crowd broke up. It seemed to personify a heavenly dove.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed.

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Mytton, 457 John street, Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by all druggists.

For it's not too hot [illegible] for [illegible] noo-ee

Feel like we want a hammock to blow us all away

Where the icebergs are the [illegible] tains of the moon.

II

We're regretting that we grumbled at a blizzard breeze in June

When the daisies had the shivers an' the world was out o' tune

Oh, we'd like a breeze to blow us to the cold side of the moon

Where the icebergs are the mountains of the moon.

III

We growl an' growl forever—on the hilltops in the glen

To the blessin's kind that come to us we seldom say "Amen"

If we strike a hot here after may the good Lord send us that

Some Lively Old Citizens.

The Whitsett Courier has these interesting "personals":

"Aunt Sally will celebrate her 84th year with a quilting bee next Thursday."

"One of the oldest subscribers has just taken to himself a wife at the age of 98. We wish the happy couple many years of wedded bliss."

"Uncle Billy—as we call him—who is 105 years old, was in our midst Wednesday, looking for a birthday present for his youngest daughter aged 67."

Enough Said.

"What will you do if prohibition strikes us, Major?"

"My friend," said the major, "there was once a great flood of water and covered the whole world, but when the ark landed on Ararat Noah found a blind tiger. 'Two lumps of sugar, please.'"

The News From Billville.

Billville is getting ready to sell spiked watermelon juice.

Why should we tackle the water-cure again when we've been cured of water too long to talk about?

A literary barbecue was given on Wednesday last, and our leading poets descended from the stars and devoured six cows.

One of the ancient antis says that prohibition in Billville will be all "moonshine."

Water was the only thing that Adam had, but judging by the trouble he got into he must have had water on the brain.

Our preacher omitted the usual sermon Sunday. He said the weather was so hot the sinners knew what was ahead of them.

Billville must have lost hope. The following advertisement appears in The Banner:

"For Sale—Six acres in Mint and two Moonshine Distilleries that ain't never been levied on by the Government."

"The hot literary supper was a great success. Food alone was discussed, and the supper ended with the singing of the celebrated hymn, 'When Shall We Eat Again?'"

Take the Postmaster's Word for It.

Mr. F. M. Hamilton, postmaster at Cherryvale, Ind., keeps also a stock of general merchandise and patent medicines. He says: "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is standard here in its line. It never fails to give satisfaction and we could hardly afford to be without it." For sale by all druggists.

MISS ADELAIDE NICHOLS

PERIODS OF PAIN

While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Irregularities and pain are positive evidence that something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to serious derangement of the feminine organism.

Thousands of women, have found relief from all periodic suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science.

It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs that period of its terrors. Women who are troubled with painful or irregular functions should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Miss Adelaide Nichols of 324 West 22nd Street, New York City, writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"If women who suffer would only rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound their troubles would be quickly alleviated. I feel greatly indebted for the relief and health which has been brought to me by your inestimable remedy."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints such as Falling and Displacements, and Organic Diseases, Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole feminine system. For the derangements of the Kidneys of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.

All advertising bills become due after first appearance of advertisement, unless otherwise specified in contract. Parties not known to us will be required to pay for advertising in advance. Address, THE DAILY SUN, GAINESVILLE, FLA.

"The times are too good for my purse," writes a level-headed poet. To the average man here is truth and poetry combined. The times are indeed so good that a man of moderate means can scarcely get a square meal, without paying half his income in tariff profits to the trusts.

We hear a great deal of Mr. Roosevelt's "policies;" but unfortunately nobody ever says anything of his "principles." Has he no principles worth mentioning? Has he nothing broader or higher than a mere time-serving, shifting, many-colored "policy?" Is Mr. Roosevelt but an opportunist?

And now Mr. Hull, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, has joined the war-criers. He declares the people of this country could carry on a big war and get rich thereby from them over. As a get-rich-quick scheme this Hull proposition beats the Republican postoffice and land frauds out of sight.

A member of the City Council is reported to have said that he cares nothing for the opinion of lawyers, and that the ordinances would not be published, no matter how many lawyers said the law required it. All The Sun has to say in reply is, that the banks are taking a big risk in advancing money on city certificates, under the circumstances, and that the Board of Public Works will have to go to law to collect certain claims for street improvements.

The clash between the Federal and State courts in North Carolina over the enforcement of the 2½-cent passenger fare law is another phase of the irrepressible conflict between Federal and State authority. That conflict is as old as our history. Steadily through the years the National authority has been accumulating power, while the power of the several States has been declining, but the fight still keeps up. The great controversy which preceded the adoption of the United States constitution between the Federal and the State parties is still going on.

The Waters-Pierce Oil Company is in imminent danger of a fine of $1,500,000 in Texas. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana may get fined to the tune of $29,000,000 before Judge Landis in Chicago. There are many many subsidiary companies of the Standard company in different States and any or all of them are liable to come in for similar fines for wilful and persistent violation of State and Federal laws. Of course the Standard with its confessed annual dividend of 40 per cent and over can stand a large number of such fines. But there comes a time when even its immense resources must feel the drain. Would it not be better for all concerned if the immense corporation came in and surrendered and lived henceforth somewhere within the limits of fair play and decency? It would still make enough money to enable all its directors to keep steam yachts and the public would be the infinite beneficiarian. It looks as though the trust-fighting problem were coming within sight of a finish and it would seem possible for the magnates to surrender while they can still be granted the honors of war.

KEY WEST ALARMED.

The people of Key West are much alarmed at the suspension of work on the Key West end of the extension of the Florida East Coast railway, but The Daily Citizen of the Island City expresses a confidence that the road will be built through as originally intended. It says:

"It is a matter of sincere regret that it was found necessary to suspend the work on this end of the extension as stated in our issue of Saturday, and it is hoped that whatever obstacles may be responsible for this action will be speedily removed.

"The cessation of the work at this time will naturally give rise to much apprehension and all sorts of rumors, but in the interest of this city we should not allow this temporary setback to interfere with our plans for progress.

"It is unreasonable to suppose that the stopping of the work will be more than temporary. Aside from the immense amount of money already expended here, Mr. Flagler's ambition to complete the grand work in building this extension would undoubtedly cause him to do it regardless of any minor obstacles he may meet. That obstacles would be met in such a stupendous undertaking must have been foreseen by him from the beginning and he is unquestionably prepared to meet them.

"We have the utmost faith in Mr. Flagler and our people should not worry about the completion of the railroad. Mr. Flagler has said he would build it into Key West and has given abundant evidence that he will make good his word. And Henry M. Flagler is not a quitter."

The Sun's information regarding the cessation of work on the Key West end of the extension is that it has been caused on account of some misunderstanding with the National authorities. It is confidently hoped, however, that all differences will soon be amicably adjusted and the work resumed and pushed rapidly to completion.

There is a tolerably unanimous failure throughout the South to either get excited or enthusiastic over the war screams of a certain section of the yellow press. It is not that the South is not patriotic. If the time comes when there is something doing in the war line, either with the Orient or any other part of the world, the South will be found holding down its end of the job. That the South could fight and would fight was abundantly and sorrowfully proven during the Civil war, and the united country will probably not get over paying pensions for that object lesson in two generations. That the South was still able bodied and willing was also shown in the Spanish war, though that did not amount to much. But as to the talk of war with Japan, the South fails to be interested. There is nothing in the situation to warrant war talk. The situation, such as it is, is not one that wars are made out of. Further, the South has a valuable and growing trade with the Orient that it does not want to see disturbed for the benefit of a few newspapers who make a living out of half-page scare headlines. Southern cotton mills and unbleached piece goods for the benighted heathen are absorbing topics enough for the South just now. When there is a real occasion for war talk it will begin to take an interest.

The proposed cruise of our battleship fleet has been generally accepted the world over as a threat to the Japanese, hardly to be justified by existing conditions. "We would hardly have a better example," says The New York Evening Post, "of the way a navy, so far from being a safeguard, can become a great menace to the peace of the nation."

Keeping Batch.

Be it said, perhaps, to the credit of many of the husbands of Fernandina, though maybe not in strict accordance with their feelings, that they are now performing domestic duties by preparing as well as furnishing their daily bread in the absence of the madams who are taking a few days' vacation to which they are justly entitled at this season of the year. It is no unusual thing to see a man pull a dishrag from his pocket instead of a handkerchief, or draw out a box of baking powder in search for a cigarette. But the time will soon come when the good women will return to again straighten out the household, and then the men can come and go at will, always finding things in apple pie order about the home, which, during the absence of the feminine member, so much resembled the "china shop the bull ran through."—Fernandina Record.

The story of the graft and perfidy attending the construction of the new State capitol of Pennsylvania is humiliating to every American. Out of $13,000,000 actually spent on the structure, no less than $5,000,000 was wasted in graft. Considerably more than one-third of the appropriation was stolen. But by whom? The Republican party controls the State, and their "innocent connivance at wrong-doing" is responsible.

HERBINE

The Popular Liver Medicine Will Keep You Well

A GUARANTEED CURE for all diseases produced by TORPID LIVER and IMPURE BLOOD. Do not fill your system with Arsenic, Calomel and Quinine. They act as rank poisons which vitiate the blood, debilitate the system, and leave a trail of bad symptoms which require years to obliterate. HERBINE is purely vegetable and contains no mineral or narcotic poisons, is absolutely harmless and is the simple remedy of nature. It carries off all poison in the system and leaves no injurious effects.

CURED BY HERBINE AFTER OTHER REMEDIES FAILED

Mr. L. A. Hicks, Iredell, Texas, says: "I was sick in bed for eight months with liver trouble, the doctor seemed to do me no good. I was told to try Herbine, and it cured me in a short time. I cannot recommend this wonderful medicine too highly."

U. S. LIFE SAVERS AT EXPOSITION

Grand Stand Overlooking Boush Creek Crowded By Spectators.

AN INTERESTING SPECTACLE

Surfmen Run Their Life Boats Into the Sea and Hasten Out to a Wrecked Schooner on the Bar and Rescue Sailors from Rigging.

Jamestown Exposition, Va., July 23.—The daily drills and exhibitions which are being given by the United States Life Saving station at the Jamestown Exposition are attracting much attention. Every day the grand stand overlooking Boush creek an arm of Hampton Roads where the exhibitions are given, is thronged with interested spectators watching the surfmen run their life boats into the sea, hasten out to a wrecked schooner lying on a bar, and by means of life buoys rescue the sailors from the rigging.

In these exhibitions the various styles of buoys, life cannon, life boats and rocket projectiles are shown. The first part of the drill consists of a life boat practice, in which self-righting boats and those with double bottoms and air compartments are used by the men.

Under the direction of Captain H. J. Cleary, one of the most skilled men in the service, the boats are run out of their house on carriages, launched and put through various manuevers. Of course all the surfmen are expert swimmers. A number of muskrats could not be more at home in the water, and their diving, utter fearlessness and strength in swimming have attracted widespread admiration.

Even to those wholly ignorant of the ways of the sea, a visit to the station is of the greatest interest. There one will see the different kinds of cannon used in shooting life lines over storm-tossed vessels; one will see the appliances now in use in this country and in the principal European countries; there are cases filled with projectiles which have been shot out to stricken ships, each shot bearing the date of its use, the locality of the wreck and the number of the people brought ashore on the line which followed it; and then one will see the men themselves, brown with the tan of the sun and wind and the salt spray, jolly with many a yarn to spin, but men who are prepared to brave the heaviest sea, many having done so on numerous occasions, to carry aid to storm-beaten and sinking ships.

The Doctor Away from Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp, colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by all druggists.

Still in Precarious State.

Boston, July 23.—Seaton Tone, Bush, Moore and Thomas, victims of the explosion on board the battleship Georgia last Monday, were reported at the naval hospital Monday as still being in a serious condition. All the others are doing well.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the horny dead cuticle of the scalp caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and in time falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all attest that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

SERMONETTES

BY EDWARD SHORES

[illegible]

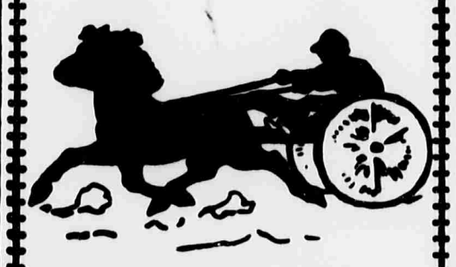
A certain man came [illegible] and asked [illegible] Confucius was [illegible] and [illegible] Shu [illegible] replied the man.

The mothers of the good night kiss in the stories we tell our little ones will be [illegible] for your little one will be [illegible] Mr. Father [illegible] mother loved [illegible] Lips all [illegible] will become dewey again when the tender memory rushes over them in after years. Kiss your child before he goes to sleep. The hour may come when you would give the world's gold just to touch those ruby lips once more.

I have known of men who refused to stand by another in an unfortunate hour. They preferred waiting to see how the charge turned out—true or false—on this changing tide of public opinion they are willing to test their devotion. Repudiate him forever! The friend that forsook in the evil hour is unworthy of your trust when life runs smoothly. It breaks a bond for which there is no welding. They are frozen vipers warmed by your own heart-blood. They repay by the burial of their fangs in the heart that once blessed them. You don't need a friend behind whose fawning smiles there slumbers the possibility of a forsaking. Stand by the suffering heart—be that suffering just or wrong. There is nothing that so clearly marks the really heroic.

Cheerfully Recommended for Rheumatism.

O. G. Higbee, Danville, Ill., writes, Dec. 2, 1901: "About two years ago I was laid up for months with rheumatism. I tried Ballard's Snow Liniment; one bottle cured me. I can cheerfully recommend it to all suffering from like affliction." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.



HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and sagacious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until croakers were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

POSED AS WHITE GIRL.

Chicago Negress Won Her Way to Social Leadership.

Chicago, Ill., July 23.—It has been the fortune of Cecelia Johnson, sister of "Mush-Mouth" Johnson, the negro gambling king, whose illicit traffic has been the despair of the city's reform element, to furnish the greatest sensation ever uncovered in the university of Chicago.

As a leader of society in the Rockefeller school and a member of one of the most exclusive societies, she passed for more than three years as a white girl and won her way to the top of the 'varsity social leaders.

Cecelia Johnson has been a student in the university for five years, and her social triumphs extended over the greater part of that period. From an obscure freshman girl to the leadership of one of the midwest smart sets and back again to the socially unfit has been the remarkable experience of the gambler's sister.

The girl was one of the most popular coeds who ever entered the university. She was welcome at any entertainment. Her card was always the first to be filled in the numerous dances of the university students, and her company was sought after by all the young bloods of the institution.

The discovery that she is the sister of "Mush-Mouth" Johnson was made recently a month ago, and since that time she has been as dead to the exclusive society. The discovery came as a blow to the coeds and men students alike, who had never suspected such a contingency.

The young negress lives with her mother and brother on Wabash avenue, a large two-story brick house, loaded with luxurious furnishings.

COLLEGE MEN HEROES.

Distinguish Themselves by Rescuing People from Drowning.

New York, July 23.—Two college men distinguished themselves Sunday by rescuing people from drowning in the ocean.

At Long Beach, L. I., "Tom" Thorpe, the football star of Columbia university, dashed through the surf and out into the deep water and rescued Miss Viola Atwood, 19 years old, of Freeport, who had been carried out by the undertow.

Leonard Gimball, swimmer and oarsman of the University of Pennsylvania, was the other college man to risk his life to save others. With several other men of Atlantic City, N. J., Gimball launched a lifeboat and saved four men who were clinging to a capsized launch in the boiling waters at the entrance to the channel.

Rioting in Sicily.

Rome, July 23.—Rioting of a serious nature is occurring in Sicily because of the arrest of Signor Nunzio Nasi, former minister of public instruction, on a charge of embezzlement while in office. Sicilians look upon the arrest of Nasi as an insult and mass meetings to protest were held in many towns Sunday, following which, in several cases disorders occurred.

Gen. Crozier Confirms Plans.

Washington, July 23.—General Crozier, chief of ordnance, has returned from the Pacific coast, where he examined the Benicia arsenal in California, for the improvement of the plant of which congress has made an appropriation. General Crozier reported the affairs of the arsenal in good shape and confirmed the plans for its improvement.

Won't Push Prohibition.

Montgomery, Ala., July 23.—It is definitely stated that no prohibition bill will be tried at this session of the legislature. The bill which prevents shipments to prohibition territory is up to the governor and will become a law. In order to ward off actual prohibition the liquor men will not oppose the early closing measure which has passed the senate and is certain of victory in the house.

Believed Aeronauts Perished.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—The military balloon which ascended from the aeronautic park at Tsarkoe-Selo last Friday, manned by four army officers, has been picked up at sea in a waterlogged condition. It is believed that the aeronauts perished.

War Veteran Dead.

New York, July 23.—Augustus Rodney MacDonough, son of the late T. MacDonough, of the U. S. navy, who was in charge of the United States fleet in the battle of Lake Champlain, Sept. 11, 1814, is dead at his home here.

The desire of power in excess caused the angels to fall; the desire of knowledge in excess caused man to fall.—

THE POOR CAT.

One Occasion When the Animal Did Not Come Back.

When the cat died the whole family went into mourning, figuratively if not literally. No common back door cat this, but one that must be buried with all honor. The question was how and where.

Some one proposed cremation, but this was rejected on the ground that it sounded too much like lynching. It was finally proposed that the father, who had to cross a ferry every day to his place of business, should drop it overboard, and as a burial at sea rather appealed to the sentimental attitude of the family this idea was received favorably.

The following morning the remains of the cat were made into a package and securely tied. It was a lovely day, and the ferryboat was crowded with passengers, and what had seemed so simple at home assumed unexpected difficulties in the face of a curious crowd, ready to imagine anything and to put the worst construction on an apparently mysterious action.

Finally it occurred to the father that the best time would be the evening, and he could slip the cat overboard without attracting notice in the dusk. Through the day it occupied a corner of his office, and he was glad when the time came for the return trip.

He waited until the boat was well out in the stream and then, glancing around furtively, laid his hand on the package. Suddenly it struck him what would seem strange in broad daylight would seem doubly so at night.

With a smothered groan he replaced it on the seat beside him. There was no help for it—he would have to carry it home again.

As he took his seat in the train that was to convey him the rest of the way he placed the cat on the shelf above his head and for the first time that day forgot all about it. Hurrying to get off the car when he reached his destination, he was halted by some one behind him, who thrust into his hand the ill fated package.

When he reached his house he threw it down on a chair in the hall and went in to supper. In the middle of it the maid came in and asked how she should cook the meat he had brought with him?"

"Meat!" he exclaimed. "That isn't meat! It's"—

But at this moment the maid produced the package and showed him a choice piece of meat. History does not say what the man said who got the cat.—New York Sun.

The Smile

That won't come off appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face? If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S——, Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Nothing Unusual.

Lord Cromer when ruler of Egypt made himself hateful to all sorts of rascals in that country, but he worked wonders of reform there and left it in more contented frame of mind than it had ever known previous to his arrival. While Lord Salisbury was British premier a member of the ministry complained that Lord Cromer had told him to go to the devil. "Dear me," said Salisbury, "he tells me that every time he comes to London."—Cleveland Leader.

THE BLACK BEAR.

Her Physic and Her Food After Her Five Months' Sleep.

The black bear has her cubs, from one to three in her den during the months of March and April and it is an interesting thing to know that she has the power to give birth to her young at least two weeks before the proper time. Driven from her den she will return to her cubs if he allows. In the den she cares for her young until the snows of the north country have sufficiently melted to permit of her getting about. Then she leaves the den again. She eats nothing during the five months that she hibernates, except that from time to time she will lap the water which is made by the freezing of her breath on her paws. She ventures forth as soon as the snow has sufficiently melted to permit of her getting about and for several days will eat nothing but hemlock bark and certain roots which act as a physic. When in her normal state of health again she is ravenously hungry and will diligently fish the brooks and streams in search of a dinner of trout. will hunt up the carcasses of deer or moose which have been overcome by the severity of the winter or will prey upon porcupines by quickly putting her paw under the stomach and rolling the porcupine on its back, then with a slap tear out the entrails and escape the quills.—Field and Stream.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS.

The Quarter of an Hour Following the Winning of the Derby.

The anxieties of owners of race horses competing in the Derby do not immediately end as the horses pass the judges. The fatal "objection" may snatch the laurels from the victor. The possibility discovered itself over Caractacus' race. The owner had striven in vain to get a jockey of repute. His offer of a life annuity of £1000 a year to Gostley in case of success had been declined. A stable boy named Parsons had eventually to be trusted, and, to the surprise of the learned, he got the horse home winning by a neck. Going to scale, the lad could not draw the weight. In breathless silence the bridle was sent for, and that just enabled him to balance the scale. But now Lord Stamford appeared to object that only his own horse and two others had gone the full course. The winner and the rest were already past the starting post when the flag fell. Admiral Rous looked at his watch. "Twenty minutes," he said. "An objection to hold good must be lodged within a quarter of an hour." And so the stable boy's win passed into the records, but the owner of Caractacus declared that not for £1,000 a moment would he again endure the agony of that short period following the race.—London Saturday Review.

PILLS AS WEAPONS.

The Curious Duel That Was Arranged by a Doctor.

An extraordinary duel, which at the time created an immense sensation, was one in which the decision was arrived at not by swords or pistols, but by means of a deadly poison. The men—who, it is hardly necessary to say, had fallen out over a lady—had left the arrangement of details to their seconds, and until they faced each other they did not know by what method they were to settle their differences. One of the seconds was a doctor, and he had made up for the occasion four black pellets, all identical in size and shape. "In one of these," he said, "I have placed a sufficient quantity of prussic acid to cause the almost instantaneous death of any one who swallows it. We will decide by the toss of a coin which of you is to have first choice, and you will alternately draw and swallow a pill until the poison shows its effects." Two of the pellets were then taken as the toss had decided, but without effect in either case. "This time," said the doctor, speaking of the two pellets remaining, "you must both swallow the pill at the same instant." The choice was again made, and in a few seconds one of the men lay dead on the grass.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Americans Greatest of Travelers.

Americans are rightfully called the greatest travelers in the world. They all seem imbued with the spirit of Columbus, and when we think of that venturer across strange waters in search of he knew not what we can scarcely associate him with any other country as a native than ours. It is a noticeable fact that in every resort of prominence in England and on the continent there are to be seen among the tourists during the season at least two Americans to every one representative of any other country, and in the African cities Americans are even more in predominance over travelers of other nationalities.—Leslie's Weekly.

Modern Modesty.

"You say a modest woman. Just what do you mean by that?"

"Well, a woman who costs her husband less than $2,500 a year is modest as prices go."—New York World.

Wanted—Two papers of the 9th of April and 1st of May. We will give 10 cents for the first paper of each of the above mentioned dates and 5 cents for the second.

Col. H. J. McCall, one of the leading members of the Jacksonville bar, was in town yesterday. He was looking after his extensive land interests in the vicinity of Gainesville.

Mrs. H. G. Rembert is in the city visiting her mother, Mrs. W. P. Garrett. Mrs. Rembert has just recovered from a long spell of fever and her many friends are glad to see her out again.

In a short time now we will occupy the whole building of S. F. Brooks' grocery store, and will put in the most complete line of laces and embroidery, gents' furnishings and all kinds of notions. Gainesville 5 and 10-Cent Store.

J. T. Manning of Clarke, an old Gainesville boy, was in the city yesterday on business. Mr. Manning is the Seaboard Air Line agent and postmaster at the above-named place. He is also engaged in the mercantile business.

R. T. Schafer and family, who came very near being drowned a few days ago when the steamer on which they were bound for Jamestown burned near Tybee, will remain in Tybee for a few days. Mr. Schafer has given up his trip to Jamestown and will return to Gainesville.

J. M. Price was in the city yesterday from Melrose.

Mrs. Sam Turner was in the city yesterday from Micanopy.

Capt. L. F. Barker has returned from a short visit to Macon, Ga.

T. H. Cato and daughter were in the city yesterday from Alachua.

James Adamson has returned from a visit among friends and relatives in South Carolina.

Fay-Sholes typewriter ribbons the best on the market, for sale at The Sun office, 75 cents.

Wanted—Furnished house 6 to 10 rooms, September to June. References furnished. Box 224.

Miss Mabel Lamb returned to her home yesterday, after a short visit to her friend, Miss Mary Baird.

Our candy case is a success. Why? Because we have fresh candy coming in regularly, and the latest novelty in a candy dispenser. Gainesville 5 and 10-Cent Store.

Miss Dula Wolf, for several years in the Alachua High School, received a telegram yesterday announcing her election to a position in the Arcadia school at a fine salary.

We beg to thank each and every one for their patronage, and feel that our thanks will be returned by the general public for having a store where you can buy surprising things from 5 cents to $1. Gainesville 5 and 10-Cent Store.

Wilson Allen and W. M. Clayton, two prosperous colored farmers of Wannee and Bell respectively, were in the city yesterday on business connected with the United States Land Office. Wilson was in to make final proof on his homestead.

William H. Anderson, Jr., of Bronson, has accepted a position as bookkeeper in the Gainesville National Bank. Mr. Anderson attended the East Florida Seminary and has many relatives in this city. We are all glad to have him with us and trust that he will be well pleased with his position.

Col. J. M. Rivers and wife, J. F. Bunch, D. M. Tomkies, Miss Julia Wainwright, Rev. P. W. Corr, Robt. McClellan and J. H. Earle will leave today for Lake City, as delegates from the Baptist church of this city to the Baptist convention which will convene in Lake City this evening. Gainesville will be well represented.

Miss Heloise Vidal has gone to Brunswick, Ga., to visit her friend, Miss Winnie McKinnon.

The people of Gainesville cannot be too careful in keeping their premises clean at this season of the year.

Jesse E. Hartz, city editor of The Sun, went to High Springs and Alachua yesterday in the interest of the paper.

Lost—Setter pup, six months old, white with liver and black spots on ear and foot of tail. Return to E. H. Waters' Pool Room and receive reward.

L. W. Jackson leaves today for Melrose and Hawthorn, where he will remain for several days in the interest of the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

J. N. Shealey of Rochelle was in the city yesterday. Mr. Shealey recently purchased the Finklea store at that place and will engage in the mercantile business.

W. C. Matheson has returned from his old home in Camden, S. C. He says that he found many changes, but was glad to have the pleasure of meeting many of his old comrades.

W. N. Wilson is having a coping put around his residence on East Liberty street. It will have a very pretty effect and will add much to the looks of his already palatial residence.

The Tampa and Jacksonville railroad offers rates to White Springs and return as follows: Tickets good going Saturday and returning Tuesday $2.50. Tickets going and returning Sunday, $2.

Prof. P. W. Corr leaves today to attend the Baptist State Convention in Lake City. Prof. Wetter will take charge of Prof. Corr's classes in the Normal during the former's absence from the city.

A large force is engaged on the road work being built to Prairie Creek. The work is being done under the supervision of Mr. Waits, who has been engaged in road building for a long time and knows how to build a road.

There will be an interesting game of baseball at the park this afternoon between Daytona and Gainesville colored teams. The battery for the home club will be White and Daniels. The former is one of the best pitchers that ever stepped into the box on this diamond, and his friends expect great things of him. Go out and see the home boys "wipe up the earth" with the Daytona Sand Crabs.

A card received from Rev. S. B. Rogers by The Sun yesterday requesting his paper changed from Sandersville to Indian Springs, Ga., bears information that Mr. Rogers is somewhat improved. The many friends of Mr. Rogers in Gainesville will be pleased to hear that he is improving and trust that he will soon be able to return to Gainesville and take up his work again. Mr. Rogers' address for the present will be Indian Springs, Georgia.

The Sub-School District Election.

Very little interest was manifested in the election in the Gainesville sub-tax school district yesterday. In fact had it not been for the efforts of Supt. J. L. Kelley it is doubtful if the polls would have been opened. He finally obtained the consent of D. A. Robertson to act as clerk and Z. T. Taylor and A. F. Harrod as inspectors, who opened the polls and conducted the most quiet election ever held in Gainesville. The election was for the trustees and to fix the millage to be levied for the next two years. There was no opposition to the present incumbents, Messrs. W. W. Hampton, G. W. Hyde and J. H. Vidal, and they were reelected, the latter two receiving 34 votes each and the former 33. The levy of three mills, which has heretofore prevailed, was adopted for the next two years.

Ditching on Sewer Work Completed.

Contractor Beeman has completed all of the ditching on the Gainesville sewer work and has now men engaged making the proper connections. This has proven a big job but Contractor Beeman has been equal to the occasion. He had many hardships to overcome. First he struck the wet season and labored at a great disadvantage; then he could not get his material delivered by the railroad companies, and lately he has experienced all kinds of trouble with labor, but the job has at last been completed.

When Mr. Beeman turns it over to the city, Gainesville will have as complete a system as any city the same size in the United States.
